Tradewinds of Emsworth was hauled ashore for hull and internal repairs at Spice Island Marine Services in Grenada on Tuesday 21st February 2012, following a collision at sea on Thursday 8th February 2012. It is unlikely that Tradewinds will cruise again before November 2012.

Further information and images relating the collision can be seen in a special gallery that has been constructed. This new gallery can be accessed via the toolbar at the head of this page.

My thanks to all who have followed my cruising this winter and to those crew members who have spent time aboard Tradewinds as my guests.

Happy Sailing and fair winds to all my cruising friends,

Tony
